DETAILED ACTION

The preliminary amendment filed March 29, 2004 has been entered. Claims 12-15 and 17 have been amended. Claims 1-11 and 18-32 have been cancelled.

Accordingly, Claims 12-17 are pending in the instant application.

Election/Restriction

Election of Species

Part 1. Applicant is required to elect one of the species listed below. This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species of the claimed invention, covering the following growth-promoting genes, as set forth in the claims:

- A. SV40 large T antigen
- B. v-myc
- C. N-myc
- D. c-myc
- E. p53
- F. polyoma large T antigen
- G. E1a adenovirus
- H. E7 protein of human papillomavirus

The different growth-promoting genes as outlined in the species election requirement A-H represent distinct inventions because they are drawn to different genes requiring separate searches for each. The different genes encode structurally and functionally diverse proteins. The proteins are not so related as to be considered obvious variants. Furthermore, there is nothing on the record to suggest that the different proteins are obvious variants.

Art Unit: 1632

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable.

Currently, Claims 12 and 14 are generic.

Part 2. Applicant is further required to elect one of the species listed below. This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species of the claimed invention, covering the following diseases, as set forth in the claims:

- A. Parkinson's disease
- B. Alzheimer's disease
- C. Senile dementia
- D. Amyotrophic Lateral Sclerosis (ALS)
- E. Stroke
- F. Traumatic head injury

The different diseases as outlined in the species election requirement A-F represent distinct inventions because they are drawn to treatment of distinct diseases which have different etiology, different symptoms and deficits, and different clinical outcomes requiring different searches for each disease. The different diseases affect different areas of the central nervous system and are clinically divergent. The diseases are not so related as to be considered obvious variants. Furthermore, there is nothing on the record to suggest that the different diseases are obvious variants such that a method of treating one disease would render the method obvious for treating other diseases.

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable.

Currently, Claims 15 and 16 are generic.

Art Unit: 1632

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species associated with the elected invention, even though this requirement is traversed.

Applicant is advised that a response to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of an allowable generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a petition under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
